

ABSTRACT

Adaptively analyzing an observed signal to estimate that part of the signal that best corresponds to a steering vector. Modifying the steering vector by convolution of the steering vector with a vector estimating the effect of multipath on the observed signal.